About UNSUNG: The Accidental Villains of History

UNSUNG features catchy tunes and sharp wit that comically reimagines different historical events and the famous figures who inadvertently caused some of the world's greatest disasters. From the teen tasked with putting all the lifeboats on the Titanic to the animal-loving guard who let in the Trojan Horse. An unforgettable blend of humour and history!

Run Time

60 minutes with no intermission

Content Warnings and Advisories

Please be advised that UNSUNG includes discussions of violence and death. It references the following historical events

- The Sinking of the Titanic
- The Stock Market Crash of 1929
- The Trojan Horse
- The French Revolution and use of the Guillotine
- The Chicago Fire
- The first person to descend the Niagara Falls
- The first Moon Landing

Some moments may include dark or distressing themes, presented in a comedic context.

The show features a sudden blade sound effect used in a comedic context in the French Revolution/Guillotine Story, the fourth story in the show.

Set

The set design will be very minimal, using the stage itself as the primary playing space. At most, there may be a small platform to allow for variation in levels.

The setting for the seven stories will be showcased mostly in costuming and props. For example a large, flat, wooden horse prop for the Trojan Horse story.

Costumes

Each actor wears a neutral coloured base costume. They add simple pieces on top for each story they're a part of.

For example in the Stock Market Scene all the actors playing the Stock Market Ensemble wear oversized suit jackets.
