

TORONTO
FRINGE
FESTIVAL

Toronto's first marching band theatre company is returning to The Fringe with their brand-new show, High School Symphony

Last year, the immerse marching band theatre company, The Teeny Tiny Music Show premiered in Toronto with their show of the same name in the 2017 The Toronto Fringe Festival and are returning this year with their brand-new play, HIGH SCHOOL SYMPHONY, a Big-Band "Mean Girls" tale of friendship, revenge, and if we ever REALLY got over what happened in high school. This musical whirlwind is premiering July 5th, 2018, 7:00pm at The Randolph Theatre, located at 736 Bathurst Street, Toronto.

A remarkable friendship between two young, Catholic grade school girls is tested when they get suspended for sexual harassment towards their teacher. The drama unfolds with a cast that consists of two BFF's and a hidden eight-piece marching band, who crawl out of the woodwork during the duration of the show and double as hot teachers, best friends, the guy who only plays "Wonderwall", and of course, the enemy popular group. Our marching band has decked the soundtrack with video game references, anime theme songs, and slicked-up sounds from the early 00's that got every millennial through their pimply prepubescence!

Written by and starring Hayley Pace. The show was conceived after Pace revisited a Ziplock bag of over one hundred origami notes addressed to her from her high school girlfriends that were tucked away in her hometown bedroom for almost a decade. Within these notes were touching stories of first love's lost, fleeing the friend-zone, provoking teachers, infamous dick jokes, and asking what matters most – boys or besties?

The Teeny Tiny Music Show

In association with The Toronto Fringe presents

High School Symphony

Book Written and Conceived by Hayley Pace

Starring Hayley Pace

Directed by Ryan Percival

Music Directed, Arranged and Composed by Daniel Walsh

Assistant Directed by Joseph Burdi

Dramaturgy by Geneviève Canavan

Stage Managed by Cara Baum

July 5th, 7:00pm July 11th 3:30pm

July 8th, 1:15pm July 12th 11:00pm

July 9th, 2:30pm July 13th 5:15pm

July 14th 3:30pm

The Randolph Theatre, 736 Bathurst Street, Toronto

No latecomers.

Tickets:

$12 at the door or online:

<https://fringetoronto.com/festivals/fringe/event/high-school-symphony>