Fringe's Final Girls: Springtime Brings Women-led Horror to Toronto

Are you afraid of the dark? Violent playground games, feverish dialogue, claustrophobic intimacy, and wicked desires? Odradek Theatre Collective invites you to be buried alive with Springtime, a nightmarish love story about two women running from the law and the man hiding them in a box under his pig farm. Shows run July 3, 4, 9, and 10 at CineCycle.

Springtime is written by Katie Lawrence, a 2026 finalist for the RBC Bronwen Wallace Award in Creative Nonfiction and graduate of Toronto Metropolitan University's MFA in Scriptwriting and Story Design. It is directed by Canadian Screen Award Winner Shailyn Pierre-Dixon, who directed the hit comedy Minimum for Hamilton Fringe 2025, and stars comedian Kendra Cordick of the Dora nominated Toronto Fringe production Killing Time: A Gameshow Musical. Springtime features lighting design by Evelyn Rensing, projections by Kira Bhandar Ma, and sound design by Elijah MacLeod.

Hide from the summer heat and be chilled by this two-woman thriller in an immersive theatre experience unlike anything else at Fringe. Springtime is coming. Will you be brave?
