

Reader Reviews of the book BOY versus FLY: A Dean Bean Adventure

Reviews from Goodreads.com

Mar 03, 2018 Jenn

This was my 5000th book owned. It's special in so many ways. It is written and illustrated by a friend of mine. And I went to get my autographed copy this morning. As it is a children's book it was a very quick read. But I found myself smiling at the short tale. The boys would rather figure out how to catch an fly in hand on their own than to eat even half their salad and learn from their father! Typical kids. The illustrations are great, too. There are a lot of geometrical shapes involved which would make a great teaching tool. Two thumbs up to Dean Bean and his author Daniel!

Aug 19, 2018 Karen

Went to Chapters to pick up a book for my daughters Aurora and Maya met the author and he signed the book for them. Read the book at bedtime my girls absolutely loved the book and made me read it twice to them. Great book can't wait for your next one to come out.

Apr 28, 2018 Liane

Met the author at Chapters today. Found his book charming, with likeable characters, and a good storyline.

Review from Amazon.com

April 1, 2018 Sameem

I like it! A refreshing change from the usual Disney copycat stories. Definitely a story I would read with my boys to teach them that you must never give up trying but also learn from your mistakes as you try!

Dreams Really Do Come True! (And Other Lies)

Hilarious new Second City show is a Dream come true (no lies)

Directed by Kerry Griffin

“Alumnus and first-time director Kerry Griffin gives a jolt of theatricality to the show, evident from the carnival-like opening and continuing in transition scenes via a top hat-wearing Ashley Comeau, a sort of ringleader of wicked laughs.”

<https://nowtoronto.com/stage/comedy/dreams-really-do-come-true-and-other-lies/>

Second City's We Can Be Heroes: comedy review

Directed by Kerry Griffin

“Let’s cheer all the good stuff first, which starts with Kerry Griffin’s direction of the piece. This is probably the most choreographed Second City show I’ve ever seen. You want dance? You’ve got it! And Griffin and his skilled cast make every kind of modern movement hilarious, from skanky club moves to “sensitive” ice dancing. Brilliant.”

https://www.thestar.com/entertainment/stage/2013/08/29/second_citys_we_can_be_heroes_comedy_review.html

The Meme-Ing Of Life

Second City's latest is one of the best-acted and directed shows in recent memory

Directed by Kerry Griffin

“The revue is one of the best-acted and -staged in recent memory. Chalk that up to director Kerry Griffin, whose last outing, Dreams Really Do Come True! (And Other Lies), was equally memorable, and a cast that includes three new mainstage performers who bring a lot to the mix.”

<https://nowtoronto.com/stage/comedy/the-meme-ing-of-life/>