

Please Stand Clear* - House of Rebels Third Premier at the Toronto Fringe

With Please Stand Clear, House of Rebels debuts a dark comedy that is unafraid to address the difficult topic of suicide. More specifically, the reluctance our society has in discussing suicide. The play is offensively honest, and is prepared to shock as well as entertain. With Please Stand Clear, the goal is to normalize communication about difficult topics such as suicide and self-harm through comedy, and make taboo topics more comfortable and acceptable to talk about.

Featuring playwright Ross Hammond and actor/writer Anthony Di Feo returning to share the stage following their performance in 2017's The Resurrectionists (also a part of the Toronto Fringe Festival). Directed by Raeburn Ferguson - nominated for Best Director at the ACT-CO Awards, and Theatre Ontario's Professional Theatre & Education Manager. Lighting and Sound Design provided by Kelly Anderson of Theatre by Committee.
