

ABOUT KEIR COLLECTIVE

Keir Collective is a Toronto-based contemporary dance company founded by dancer, choreographer, and educator Sydney Keir. Rooted in contemporary ballet and cinematic movement storytelling, the collective creates bold, emotionally charged works that merge athleticism, precision, and immersive theatricality.

Drawing from a diverse performance background that spans concert dance, commercial performance, musical theatre, and film, Keir Collective is dedicated to pushing the boundaries of contemporary performance in Canada while building meaningful connections with audiences through movement.

The company's debut production, Seasons of Souls, marks the beginning of an ambitious new chapter – one that champions emerging artists, interdisciplinary collaboration, and emotionally resonant contemporary performance.