

Potato Potato Saves the World (?)

The end is nigh.

Aliens from the planet Otnorot have invaded planet Earth and they're intent on stealing our water! Now, it's up to sketch comedy troupe Potato Potato to save the day. After the disappearance of their star member, the Intergalactic Council summons Potato Potato to represent Earth in intergalactic court, where they will have to partake in a trial by comedy to save the planet. Oh, and have we mentioned that every other sketch troupe on the planet has mysteriously disappeared?! It's quite literally up to Potato Potato to save the day- if they fail, it means the end of the world as we know it.

With the aid of their court-appointed public defender, Potato Potato will revisit some of their most popular sketches to determine their best angle of defence. Exploring themes of art, sex, democracy, technology, and, of course, the environment, they'll craft the perfect five-minute set to out-funny Otnorot and convince the intergalactic council that humanity is worth saving.

But with big egos, growing tension, and doomsday anxiety, will the award winning sketch troupe be able to rise to the occasion? Or will they crumble under the pressure of saving the world??

Using the powerful combination of their hit political sketch comedy and original music, this group of musical theatre nerds turned comedians will take the audience on a journey through their comedy hits.

It's part musical, part sketch show, all Potato Potato.

Watch as they do their best to convince the intergalactic council that humanity is worth saving.

After all, humans haven't been that bad to the planet... Have they??