Bio

Savanna Harvey is an emerging artist based out of Edmonton, Alberta. Trained in literature and drama at the University of Alberta, she has since worked in theatre, film, new media, performance art, and the visual arts. Her work has led her into various mediums, but always with a curiosity and focus on performance.

She is the founder and artistic director of Pretentious Productions, which has been presenting original work since 2014. Last year, she was involved in the creation of 3 new works, which saw 6 runs and were programmed in 4 festivals. One of these shows was live-streamed on the internet in its entirety. Another was performed with the script projected behind the actors the whole play. Another show involved dancing with audience members, blindfolded, in the streets.

Shadowlands is the first time she is taking a show on the road. Going on a national Fringe tour has been at the top of her bucket list for years!!

Savanna works at the Edmonton Public Library. She does not have any kind of science background, despite now writing, not one – but two plays about science. Thank goodness she has a library card!
