

So Mote It Be: the musical

Where folklore and strippers meet

“So Mote It Be” is an original sexy, dark folk musical, which tells the stories of three historical women prosecuted for witchcraft who are resurrected in the modern world and become strippers. The witches must grapple with new challenges, stemming from prejudices against sex work and patriarchal trauma. MJ, in particular, struggles to understand her higher purpose while falling in love with Liam, a customer of the club.

This new work is produced by Cassandra Sirois, founder of MoonChild Productions, and is based on a TV series in development. MoonChild Productions was born out of Cassandra's desire to inspire audience members to explore the themes of freedom, healing and sensuality. She is passionate about contributing to the conversation on destigmatization and decriminalization of sex work for a safer world for everyone.

“So mote it be : the musical” has brought together a magical team of artists. Director Evelyn Long is no stranger to the Fringe Festival scene, having directed the successful pieces “Hexen” and “Omen,” which was a public choice favorite. Maddy Eddy will also grant our audience with her divine voice that has won numerous awards including the Broadway World Award for best musical for Dreamgirls in 2017.

*May this adventure transcend you and make you feel your inner-magic!
So mote it be.*

MoonChild Productions in association with The Toronto Fringe Festival presents

So Mote It Be: the musical

Written by Cassandra Sirois

Directed by Evelyn Long

Featuring lighting design by Evelyn Long

Opens July 6th – 17th, 2021

Online at fringetoronto.com [once you know your show URL you should put this in]

Tickets and Memberships:

Add information about how to get tickets. (This is still TBD – we will have more information shortly. The easy answer is that patrons can purchase online at fringetoronto.com)

Toronto Fringe Communications Manager: Claire Wynveen, communications@fringetoronto.com

Your Media Rep Contact: Afton Rentz

Your Media Rep Phone: 780 909 0750

Your Media Rep Email: aftonrentz@gmail.com