Innovative Female Collaborative Launching at Fringe Toronto

A captivating all female theatrical collective is set to give first run of their debut piece “F*cking Perfect.”

Chocolate Kiss collective is comprised of Jeysa Caridad, Jessica Bowmer, Adriana Moraes-Mendoza and Iliana Spirakis. All recent graduates of Humber Theatre Performance they begin their foray into professional theatre with a piece entitled “F*cking Perfect.” It takes place at The Factory Theatre MainStage, in Toronto’s Fringe Festival from Saturday, July 6th - 14th. Further information on location and tickets may be found on the Toronto Fringe website. The piece aims to dismantle and explore the process that forms the female psyche through truncated narrative. It investigates themes of love, illusion, and perception of gender and personhood with an aching relevance to today’s social and political landscape.

Note to Editors: The piece is being overseen by producer Emma Dinning and stage manager Jaimee Hall. Please feel free to cut, paste or edit as you see fit. I appreciate your time.
