

June 2019

Cyrano de Bergerac, the cherished theatre classic full of whimsy and charm, has been lovingly adapted by The Leslieville Players for the 2019 Toronto Fringe Festival. This version has been designed to be performed outdoors to be better accessed by anyone in the community who wishes to get an extra dose of fun in their day. Much like travelling storytellers of old, the actors will compete with the hubbub of the street as they perform out of the front of a home on Jones Avenue. Packed full of energy, wit, and one particularly outrageous nose, The Leslieville Players' Cyrano de Bergerac is the perfect experience for people of any age.

This play follows the most impressive swordsman, poet, and intellectual in all of France, Cyrano de Bergerac, as he vies to win the heart of his life-long love, Roxanne. However, he's not the only one trying to woo her; an elegant new cadet named Christina has also caught Roxanne's attention. Despite Cyrano's unmatched wit and physical prowess, there's one thing that stands in his way--his nose. The only thing more amazing than Cyrano's character is his outrageously protruding nose. His best friend Ragueneau thinks he should just believe in himself, but his worst enemy De Guiche wants nothing more than to see Cyrano ruined.
