David Rowan, Actor

2018 Sketch Comedy “PRTNR” at Toronto Fringe:

NNNN rating from NOW Toronto for. “Every scene shows off Kulesza and Rowan’s excellent chemistry and physical prowess.” - Debbie Fein-Goldbach, NOW Toronto

“What makes this show so funny for me is Rowan and Kulesza’s incredible abilities at characterization. Regardless of the absurdity with which their characters were behaving in, they felt real in the context of the sketch. Their vocal affectations and idiosyncrasies make sense; these characters are ridiculous, but not caricatures.” – Sarah Siddiqui, Mooney on Theatre

Jamie & Jon Champagne, Actors

2015 comedy “She Said Yes” at Toronto Fringe:

“the stand out performances were by Jamie and Jon Champagne. Twin brothers in real life, they nailed every character they played and fed off of each other’s energy. They stole my focus every time they were on stage because of their enthusiastic commitment to everything they were doing. Every gesture, every word and every quirk was completely justified. These guys are comedy gold.” – Tracey Beltrano, Mooney on Theatre

Jennifer-Beth Hanchar, Actor

2015 comedy “She Said Yes” at Toronto Fringe

“Jennifer-Beth Hanchar, was the perfect best friend/straightwoman. She definitely had a couple of characters up her sleeve and I really appreciated that she didn’t play for the laughs. She just IS funny and that’s enough.” – Tracey Beltrano, Mooney on Theatre
