

LESBIHONEST Press History

Part stand-up, part personal storytelling, Piccinin stands behind a mic and tells us her coming out stories (yes, there's more than one). Sharply observed, tightly delivered—and finding laughter in the pain—for an entertaining and insightful, out and proud ride. —Cate McKim, Life with more Cowbell

LESBIHONEST, by Laura Piccinin, is a droll stand-up routine about the various times she has come out to all sorts of people, including having to come out more than once when her sexual identity shifted. It has a particularly great bit about the unclear rules of going to the same bathroom when out on a lesbian date: “Are we still on the date? Or are we in a time out?”. —Ilana Lucas, Mooney on Theatre