

ALWAYS UNIQUE, TOTALLY INTERESTING, SOMETIMES MYSTERIOUS

TRYING TO FIND THE VOICE THAT NO ONE KNEW YOU HAD

Desperately trying to navigate her way through high school, Chloe finds hope when she discovers a way to make her voice heard without having to speak a word. Always Unique, Totally Interesting, Sometimes Mysterious is a touching one-woman show that explores the challenges and triumphs of living with Autism Spectrum Disorder and the universal longing to be understood.

What started out as a final performance project of Alyson Parovel's at the University of Windsor, has turned into a 4-year writing, editing, production, and touring process. Having been part of Hamilton Fringe Festival and Springworks Festival, Always Unique, Totally Interesting, Sometimes Mysterious is excited to make its Toronto debut! A Mississauga based company, Alyson Parovel Productions, has been fortunate enough to travel throughout Ontario, performing this show for a variety of high school students.

"Superb, deeply-etched, finely-tuned and always insightful." – Gary Smith Hamilton Spectator
