About

Interrupted is a new work present and choreographed by Robyn Bedford, in collaboration with dancers, Madison Burgess, Kelsey Elliott, Victoria Gubiani, Jamie Morrow, Emily Rapley, and Paige Sayles.

This intricate and highly physical dance piece will invoke connections in your heart to the vulnerability of human reaction and adaptation to change. The group of emerging dance artists will take you on a journey highlighting familiar thoughts and emotions we often keep hidden within ourselves. Each performance will live and breathe in its own reactions giving, slight variations to the work and leaving each show feeling unique to its audience.

About the Choreographer

Robyn Bedford originally from Calgary Alberta, is a Toronto based independent dance artist holding a BFA in choreography and performance. Robyn has had the privilege of training with and performing for artists Carol Anderson, Holly Small, Michael Greyeyes, Susan Lee, and Roberto Campanella. Robyn has been working as a freelance dance artist within the Toronto art communities and is continually pursuing innovative, experimental and/or multidisciplinary dance based projects.
