

Some People To Think About is a solo sketch comedy show by Canadian Comedy Award Nominee Paul Blinov (Gossamer Obsessions, Rapid Fire Theatre), directed by Beth Dart. It blends the written with the improvised, in a finely curated collection of strange fools and plausible nonsense: an all-too-honest father, an all-too desperate screenwriter, and more.

Paul Blinov is a comedian and writer based in Edmonton. He improvises weekly with Rapid Fire Theatre, where he's the Director of Education (Youth), and he's toured and performed sketch and improv in places like Vancouver, Toronto, Atlanta, and Chiang Mai (Thailand!). He also co-hosts an award-winning arts criticism podcast called I Don't Get It. He used to be a theatre critic! Now look at him!

Dates 'n times:

Wed, July 3 (8:30 pm)

Friday, July 5 (2:30 pm)

Sunday, July 7 (8:30 pm)

Monday, July 8 (5:45 pm)

Tuesday, July 9 (6:15 pm)

Friday, July 12 (4:15 pm)

Saturday, July 13 (3:15 pm)

Runtime: 50 minutes

Price: $11

Rating 14+

Location: Venue 15, Streetcar Crowsnest Scotiabank Studio, 345 Carlaw Avenue

For any media inquiries, you can reach Paul at Paul@rapidfiretheatre.com, or 587.873.2000.