

PRTNR

Produced by Dave Told Me To Do This Productions

Natalie Kulesza: Writer & Actor

Born and raised in Toronto, Natalie has been seen on stages and screens across this glorious city for the last decade (and a bit). She has also produced and directed her own stage shows and films. Nat is grateful for the opportunity to finally work with Dave as they have been making each other laugh for years! And now they hope they'll be able to make you laugh too! (fingers crossed...) Ask her about the time she sang in a rock opera on a boat anchored in Brooklyn (buy her a drink first).

David Rowan: Writer & Actor

No stranger to Fringe, Dave has been a part of numerous projects, such as "Don't Make Me Zealous" and "tin foil satellite" (Ottawa), and "She Said Yes" (Toronto), to name a few. Other selected works include: "West Side Story" (LOT), "Battle Silhouettes" (Comedy Bar improv), "ReUsable Gore" (sketch) and "Thank You For Being a Friend" (JP Productions), which will be touring in 2019. Dave and Nat have, basically, been writing this show, since the day they met, all those three years ago, during Fringe. Sorry to..., well, everyone. He knows it's annoying that literally every single conversation between them becomes tangential to the point of being a bit. Wouldn't have it any other way. Also, deal with it.

Sam Roulston: Director

Sam Roulston is a British actor, comedian and director based in Toronto. You may have seen Sam performing improv as part of Champagne Boyfriend or Darth Vader Ginsberg. Sam is also an instructor at The Second City Training Centre, Toronto. Sam would like to thank the amazing cast and crew of PRTNR for making this show come to life.

Media Contact: Virginia Woodall

Virginia Woodall: Producer

Virginia's first and lasting passions in life are laughter and joy, and participating in projects that accomplish those ends. She got her start with Fringe in 2012 stage managing the sketch comedy "Fringe Night Live" at the Ottawa Fringe Festival. She returned to the Ottawa festival in 2013 producing a site specific comedy "Tinfoil Satellite" in the Ottawa Fringe Festival.

In Toronto, Virginia has become an enthusiastic member of the city's dynamic comedy community and has produced many forms of comedy in her five years of living in the city. She is thrilled to be returning to the Toronto Fringe Festival after a successful run of "She Said Yes" in 2015, a comedy about the digital world of dating which she wrote, produced, and performed.

Andrea Castaneda: Stage Manager

Andrea Castaneda is excited to be working on her second Fringe show! She is a graduate from the University of Toronto Drama Program. Lighting Design and Stage Management are her points of focus, but she also enjoys being onstage from time to time. Andrea would like to thank the whole team of PRTNR for all their hard work and Natalie and Dave for all the laughter they provided.
