SYNOPSIS

Meet Roxy Roberts: Motivational Speaker/Self-Defence Coach. She's professional. She's unorthodox. And she's here to HELP! She has taken ALL the insidious safety women hear daily (clutch your keys, check your backseat, fake a phone call) and committed to living by it at all costs. Now, she's packaged her ruthlessly cautious lifestyle into a slick seminar so you can do the same!

But today's the day it all goes wrong...

Bit by bit her seminar starts to fall apart. The cracks in her armour grow, the mask starts to slip. Roxy reveals that being a motivational speaker/self-defence coach was never her childhood dream. A lifetime of vulnerability and fear led her to become blazer-clad guru before you.

Roxy begins to doubt her own dogma. Could there possibly be a middle ground between surrendering to chaos and clinging to control?
