

Synopsis

Adam and Billie are a young, budding couple, when Adam's world is turned upside down with the news that his father has died. Through his will, Adam learns that he has a half-brother living in Mattice Ontario. With that, he sets out with his girlfriend in search of this lost brother. But as the couple travels North, rifts in their relationship begin to grow. Things come to a head where the two get separated from each other at the side of the highway. Now apart, they must navigate what true companionship means to themselves, in order to find a way back to each other.
