About White Man's Indian

Darla Contois' powerful solo drama tells the story of a Cree teenager struggling to fit in at a new school. Through this journey, the play explores the social, historical, and systemic challenges that many Indigenous youth face every day. It is a moving look at experiences often overlooked by others.

Run Time

60 minutes with no intermission

Content Warnings and Advisories

White Man's Indian includes mature language, sexual content, discussions of incest and child sexual abuse, and loud sound effects. Patrons who may be affected by these themes or sensory elements are encouraged to take this information into consideration when planning their attendance.

Cast and Characters

Jaeli Bruno plays the role of Eva.
