

Potato Potato Presents, Company Bio

Potato Potato Presents is a Toronto-based sketch company that combines the talents of emerging artists from across the country. What started as a conversation about the terrifying reality of the climate crisis, has become fodder for excellent comedy. We create theatre through improvisation, collective writing and heated debates, using humour to shed light on issues facing Canadians today. Our sketch theatre is current and political, taking the opportunity to address the harsh realities of our time and laugh in the face of it all.

First established for the 2019 Fringe Festival, with It's Getting Hot in Here! (My Entertainment World Favourable Review) Potato Potato Presents has expanded to include nine emerging artists:

Daniel Bagg (Co-Creator Filament Incubator), Nicole DeAngelis, Emily Anne Fullerton, Rami Khan (Ginny & Georgia), Ashlyn Kusch, Thomas McDevitt (Theatre Parallax), Sam Mercury, Erika Rogstad, Lizzie Song.
