

"BRO DIARIES"

Written and Directed by Mackenzie Parrott

Produced by Fish Bar Productions

Synopsis:

Bro Diaries is a one-act comedy that follows Brad McMann as he navigates the world of hook ups, break ups, drinking, dancing, and doing all things BRO. When he meets smart, cool Antoinette (who has no time for his sh*t), he has to figure out how to balance romance while still impressing LaFleur, the U L T I M A T E bro. Throw in some toxic masculinity, hidden queer feelings, and a grand beer heist and we've got one messy night ahead of us.

Remember how loud your neighbours were? Remember when your dinner date cancelled AFTER you already bought groceries? Remember going to that party the night before an exam? Bro Diaries explores millennial dating culture in an up-close-and-personal way like you've never seen before! Relationships are hard and learning who you are is even harder. This play satirizes gender expectations as well as university stereotypes as we watch the mismatched relationships unfold. It's one hour of laughs and that's-so-me relatable comedy you're sure to enjoy.
