Captain Condom & The COVID-19 Conundrum!

It's a bag! It's a balloon! No, it's (drum roll please) Captain Condom - Toronto's most durable and oft-forgotten superhero! Join Captain Condom as they tackle their biggest challenge yet - some horny horny teens who've spent all of lockdown burning for each other. But while our teens have gotten used to wearing masks, evil lurks in our lovely couple's unprotected Zoom call. A ragtag group of STIs - the Seriously Terrible Invaders - are trying to convince our teens to go rubberless! It's up to our hero to save the day!

After vanquishing the cowardly Coronavirus, Captain Condom receives a Dick Signal in the sky from none other than Toronto's Premier in desperate need of help convincing local horndogs and habibis alike to mask up - down there. Our hero begins his mission in the seemingly private Zoom call of hot and heavy couple, Sam and Reginald. All seems to be well until our protagonists are Zoom-bombed by an eccentric group of outlaws including: The Crabs, an ageing couple looking for a warm place to lay their eggs; Donald Trump hyping himself up as the "hugely incredible virus" (better known as HIV); and undercover spy, Soviet Syphilis. Audience members are invited to 'stomp-stomp-clap' along with The Clap (aka Gonorrhea)'s rendition of 'We Will Rock You'; and dance along with Shah Rukh Chlamydia, King of Bollywood! As a last dick effort, the Captain calls for backup in the form of a musical condom demonstration from the one and only Maria from The Sound of Music! Will our couple be seduced by the scheming STIs? Or will Captain Condom live up to his impermeable reputation? In this virtual 'choose your own adventure,' only you, our audience members, can decide!
